A trip through the Upper Eden

Just off the A66 near the village of Warcop your journey back in time begins. Relax on board a traditional British-built train from the 1960s, the hey-day of the then British Railways Modernisation Plan. Your train will either be a Class 205 "Thumper", powered from a 600hp English Electric diesel, or our unique twin Battery powered Motor Luggage Vans hauling a Kent Coast Express 4 car set. The journey starts from the original 1862 Warcop platform and then proceeds north-westwards through rolling countryside which offers outstanding views over the North Pennines to the north whilst to the south are views over the wide Eden Valley to the distant hills of the Lake District with Blencathra being prominent. The journey is being extended towards Appleby but at the moment ends a few miles short. Look out for special events/updates as advertised locally and on our web site/Facebook.

History

The Eden Valley Railway opened in 1862 linking Penrith and West Cumbria with the North East. The line was primarily a mineral line although passenger services ran for a century until the line closed as a through route in 1962. Regular traffic persisted to Warcop until the last MoD train ran in 1988.

PRESERVATION

The charitable trust was formed in 1996 to preserve the line and operate as a heritage railway. This has gradually extended west from Warcop along the extant railway towards Appleby. Join today and become part of this exciting project.
